Table of Contents

| 1 | Markov Chains |  |                              | 1        |  |
|---|---------------|--|------------------------------|----------|--|
|   | 1.1           | Markov chains having two states                      |                              |          |  |
|   | 1.2           | Transition function and initial distribution         |                              |          |  |
|   | 1,3           | Examples   |                              |          |  |
|   | 1.4           | Computations with transition functions               |                              | 12       |  |
|   |               | 1.4.1 Hitting times                                  |                              | 14       |  |
|   |               | 1.4.2 Transition matr                                | ix                           | 16       |  |
|   | 1.5           | Transient and recurrent states                       |                              |          |  |
|   | 1.6           | Decomposition of the st                              | ate space                    | 21       |  |
|   |               | 1.6.1 Absorption pro                                 | oabilities                   | 25       |  |
|   |               | 1.6.2 Martingales                                    |                              | 27       |  |
|   | 1.7           | Birth and death chains                               |                              |          |  |
|   | 1.8           | Branching and queuing chains                         |                              | 33       |  |
|   |               | 1.8.1 Branching chair                                | ı                            | 34       |  |
|   |               | 1.8.2 Queuing chain                                  | •                            | 36       |  |
|   |               | Appendix   |                              |          |  |
|   | 1.9           | Proof of results for the                             | branching and queuing chains | 36       |  |
|   |               | 1.9.1 Branching chair                                | ı                            | 38       |  |
|   |               | 1.9.2 Queuing chain                                  |                              | 39       |  |
| _ | a             | 5   | t w. L. ob.:                 | 47       |  |
| 2 |               | Stationary Distributions of a Markov Chain           |                              |          |  |
|   | 2.1           | Elementary properties of stationary distributions    |                              | 47       |  |
|   | 2.2           | Examples   |                              | 49       |  |
|   |               | 2.2.1 Birth and death                                |                              | 50       |  |
|   |               | 2.2.2 Particles in a bo                              |                              | 53       |  |
|   | 2.3           | Average number of visits to a recurrent state        |                              | 5660 |  |
|   | 2.4           | Null recurrent and positive recurrent states         |                              |          |  |
|   | 2.5           | Existence and uniqueness of stationary distributions |                              |          |  |
|   |               | 2.5.1 Reducible chair                                | is                           | 67       |  |
|   | 2.6           | Queuing chain  |                              | 69       |  |
|   |               | 0 ( 1 D C  |                              | 70       |  |

|   | 2.7  |                                       | Convergence to the stationary distribution      |            |  |  |  |
|---|--|---------------------------------------|---|------------|--|--|--|
|   | * *  | Appendix                              |   |            |  |  |  |
|   | 2.8  |                                       | of convergence                                  | 75         |  |  |  |
|   |  | 2.8.1                                 | Periodic case                                   | 77         |  |  |  |
|   |  | 2.8.2                                 | A result from number theory                     | 79         |  |  |  |
| 3 |  | Markov Pure Jump Processes            |   |            |  |  |  |
|   | 3.1  | Construction of jump processes        |   |            |  |  |  |
|   | 3.2  | Birth a                               | 89  |            |  |  |  |
|   |  | 3.2.1                          | Two-state birth and death process               | 92         |  |  |  |
|   |  | 3.2.2                                 | Poisson process                                 | 94         |  |  |  |
|   |  | 3.2.3                                 | ± -:- · ·                                       | 98         |  |  |  |
|   |  | 3.2.4                                 |   | 99         |  |  |  |
|   | 3.3  | T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T T |   | 102        |  |  |  |
|   |  | 3.3.1                                 | Applications to birth and death processes       | 104        |  |  |  |
| ļ | Seco   | Second Order Processes                |   |            |  |  |  |
|   | 4.1  | Mean a                                | and covariance functions                        | 111        |  |  |  |
|   | 4.2  | Gaussia                               | an processes                                    | 119        |  |  |  |
|   | 4.3  | The W                                 | iener process                                   | 122        |  |  |  |
| 5 | Continuity, Integration, and Differentiation of Second |                                       |   |            |  |  |  |
|   | Orde   | er Proce                              | esses   | 128        |  |  |  |
|   | 5.1  | Contin                                | uity assumptions                                | 128        |  |  |  |
|   |  | 5.1.1                                 | Continuity of the mean and covariance functions | 128        |  |  |  |
|   |  | 5.1.2                                 | Continuity of the sample functions              | 130        |  |  |  |
|   | 5.2  | Integra                               |   | 132        |  |  |  |
|   | 5. 3  |                                       | ntiation  | 135        |  |  |  |
|   | 5.4  | White 1                               | noise   | 141        |  |  |  |
|   | Stochastic Differential Equations, Estimation Theory,  |                                       |   |            |  |  |  |
|   | and  | and Spectral Distributions 152        |   |            |  |  |  |
|   | 6.1  | First or                              | rder differential equations                     | 154        |  |  |  |
|   | 6.2  | Differen                              | ntial equations of order n                      | 159        |  |  |  |
|   |  | 6.2.1                                 | The case $n=2$                                  | 166        |  |  |  |
|   | 6.3  | Estimat                               | tion theory                                     | 170        |  |  |  |
|   |  | 6.3.1                                 | General principles of estimation                | 173        |  |  |  |
|   |  | 6.3.2                                 | Some examples of optimal prediction             | 174        |  |  |  |
|   | 6.4  | Spectra                               | l distribution                                  | 177        |  |  |  |
|   | Answ   | ers to Exe                            | ercises   | 190        |  |  |  |
|   | Gloss  | Glossary of Notation                  |   |            |  |  |  |
|   | Index  |                                       |   | 199201 |  |  |  |