

CONTENTS

Foreword	vii
----------------	-----

CHAPTER 1 : SPACE COLONIZATION IN THE CLASSROOM

Space Colonies and the Philosophy of Space Exploration	2
Gonzalo Munévar, University of Nebraska, Omaha
Baseball in Space	13
David Van Blerkom, University of Massachusetts at Amherst
From Bus Stops to Space Colonies	26
Patrick D. Hill, California Polytechnic State University at San Luis Obispo
Space in the Classroom	33
William E. MacDaniel, Niagara University
Space: A New Frontier	44
Mona Cutolo and Denis Miranda, Marymount Manhattan College
Space Colonization as a Resource in the Liberal-Arts Curriculum: The Case of Economics	50
Martin Gerhard Giesbrecht, Economics Associates

CHAPTER 2: IDEAS AND PROPOSALS FOR CURRICULAR USES OF SPACE COLONIZATION

Asking Sociological Questions about Lagrange Five	56
Barry A. Turner, University of Exeter
Space Colonization as a Tool for Teaching Anthropology	73
Thomas L. Melchionne and Steven L. Rosen, Rutgers University
Psychology and Space: From the Frying Pan into the Fire?	83
Fay Terris Friedman, D'Youville College
Limitation and Life in Space	83
Marvin Israel and T. Scott Smith, Dickinson College
Technological Possibility and Public Policy	96
Steven Lee and Scott Brophy, Hobart and William Smith Colleges
Moon Colonization and the Imagination: A Psychological Interpretation of Robert A. Heinlein's "Requiem"	105
Barbara Eckman, University of Pennsylvania
Homesteading and the Creation of Property Rights in Outer Space	114
Joel D. Scheraga, Princeton University and Rutgers University

CHAPTER 3: TECHNOLOGY AND SPACE COLONIZATION

Space Beyond Vaudeville	122
Arthur Kantrowitz, Dartmouth College
Resources and Recollections of Space Colonization	129
Thomas A. Heppenheimer, Center for Space Science
Ten Years of Perspective on Space Colonization Panel Discussion by Participants of the 1975 Stanford/ASEE/NASA Summer Study on Space Colonization	141

